Blue Cross/Blue Shield information

To assist Cal Poly employees with their health insurance coverage, the Personnel Office is running a series of four articles focusing on filing health insurance claims. This is the second of this series and deals specifically with filing a medical claim for those individuals insured by the Blue-Cross/Blue Shield health insurance coverage under the Public Employees' Medical and Hospital Care Act.

The Statewide Service Plan is made up of two parts:

1. Base benefits are provided by Blue Cross and Blue Shield. Blue Cross provides benefits for services of hospitals; Blue Shield provides benefits for physician services and other specified professional services. All claims for reimbursement of Blue Shield base plan benefits must be submitted to Blue Shield within six months after the month of service.

2. Catastrophic (Major Medical) Benefits are provided only by Blue Shield. Claims for Catastrophic Benefits (such as Prescription Drugs) must be submitted within nine months following the end of the calendar year in which the charges were incurred.

All employees insured by Blue Cross/Blue Shield will be issued identification cards indicating the Group and Subscriber Numbers. Until these cards are received, the numbers to use are: Group #99507; Subscriber Number—employee's social security number.

HOSPITAL SERVICES

Whenever possible, be sure the hospital is a Contracting Blue Cross Hospital. Present the identification card at the hospital admission desk and the hospital will bill Blue Cross directly.

encouraging notes

April 9, 1981

WASHINGTON CONTACTS. Dr. Robert Lucas, Director of Research Development, will be in Washington, D.C. April 28 and 29. If you have a project or program that you wish him to discuss with federal officials, you are urged to get a prospectus to him by mid April. Phone extension 2982 for more details.

NEW ENCOURAGING NOTES FORMAT. This will be the final issue of Encouraging Notes as a supplement to Cal Poly Report. In May, the Research Development Office will begin publishing a monthly newsletter entitled Grants and Research News. Each issue will contain not only funding opportunities but news and articles about research and sponsored programs as well as information about proposals submitted and awards received. The newsletter will be sent to departments for distribution to faculty and professional and consultative staff.

* ASEE - GAS RESEARCH INSTITUTE. During the summer of 1981, the Gas Research Institute (GRI) will award fellowships to university faculty and other researchers working in the basic sciences. These scientists will be engaged for ten weeks in a special program to assess research in a variety of fields directed toward the generation of gaseous fuels from abundant inorganic materials. The central issue of the workshop will be the conversion of primary, non-fossil energy forms, such as solar and nuclear energy, into the useful chemical energy of fuel gases that may be derived from plentiful inorganic resources such as water, carbon dioxide, and mineral carbonates. The study will evaluate current directions and potential new directions for research in this area of basic energy science.

The participants will be grouped into four teams of six to eight members each. These teams will identify promising areas of research in the fields of photochemistry, electrochemistry, and photophysics; photobiology and biomimetic chemistry; thermochemical cycles; and advanced concepts. The idea is to encourage an intense, open-ended examination of promising research avenues. Texas A&M University in College Station, Texas, will host the workshop. Two co-directors at Texas A&M will operate the program. GRI fellows will work with their peers from appropriate areas. Candidates from a broad range of disciplines are encouraged to apply.

Applicants must be U.S. citizens or permanent residents. Preferred experience is at the Ph.D. level, with two years or more of research practice, or the equivalent. Remuneration is $800 per week for ten weeks. Travel will be reimbursed for one round trip between the participant's home and College Station, Texas, not to exceed coach airfare and incidental expenses, regardless of the mode of travel. Duration is ten weeks, from June 8 to August 14, 1981. Participants must arrange and pay for their own housing which is readily available during the summer. Host personnel will assist participants in finding suitable housing. APPLICATION DEADLINE: APRIL 15, 1981. Offers of appointment will be made on or before April 30. The Research Development Office has further information and application forms.

 NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF JUSTICE - RESEARCH PROPOSALS. The NIJ intends to fund research on the following topics in fiscal 1981: (1) victim responses to stranger-to-stranger violent crime (PROPOSALS DUE MAY 7, 1981); (2) efficient use of police resources (preliminary PROPOSALS DUE JUNE 1, 1981); (3) comparative analysis of various dispute resolution programs; (4) methods for alleviating racial tensions in prisons (PROPOSALS DUE APRIL 30, 1981); and (5) synthesis of research on neighborhood crime prevention. The Research Development Office has further information on each topic and has requested copies of the solicitations.

* Guidelines and/or Application Forms Available in the Research Development Office

 Information Requested/Available Soon

 DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION - CURRICULUM DEVELOPMENT FOR SOCIAL BEHAVIOR. The Office of Special Education has a requirement to conduct a 2-year project to create new teaching materials toward helping mildly handicapped children develop appropriate social behaviors in occupational settings and for independent living. It is contemplated that up to 4 contracts will be awarded for this requirement which will focus on secondary and/or post-secondary school-age students.

DEADLINE: May 14, 1981

CIES - FULBRIGHT COMPETITION OPENS. More than 500 opportunities in over 100 countries are now open to application for university teaching and postdoctoral research abroad in 1982-82. Applications are due JUNE 1, 1981 for the American Republics, Australia and New Zealand; and JULY 1, 1981 for Africa, Asia, Europe and the Middle East.

The annual Fulbright announcement booklet will be widely distributed during April; an extract for the American Republics, Australia and New Zealand is already available. Prospective applicants should refer to a printed announcement and indicate preferred opening(s) in requesting application materials. Additional information about award terms and the opening will be provided when available.

The academic fields of interest extend from "applications accepted in any field" to urban planning and include nearly all disciplines. The 1982-83 program continues a recent trend toward somewhat more open country programs and increased opportunity for research.

Faculty members who are not already included in the CIES Register (a computertized reference and mailing list of 18,000) may register at any time. A two-page registration form is available from the Council for International Exchange of Scholars, Dept. F, Eleven Dupont Circle, N.W., Suite 300, Washington, D.C. 20036.

Copies of the 1982-83 Fulbright announcement booklet will be sent to deans and department chairmen on the campus as well as the current CIES registrants. Reference copies of the 1982-83 announcement will be available from the campus Faculty Fulbright Adviser; Bob Lucas.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE. Unlike most Federal grant programs, agricultural research programs are slated for a budget increase if the Administration's proposals are accepted by Congress. The President has requested $26 million for competitive grants, an increase of $10 million over FY 1981 and $24.5 million for special research grants in areas of national interest, an increase of $6 million. However, within the Competitive Grants program, the Administration is requesting a $3 million reduction in support for human nutrition research. In addition, funds under the McIntire/Stennis law for forestry research would increase by $1 million to reach $12.2 million. However, USDA has proposed elimination of $11.5 million in formula funds to states for higher education agricultural instruction.

* CALIFORNIA DEPARTMENT OF SOCIAL SERVICES. The California Department of Social Services is inviting eligible educational institutions to submit proposals for training county welfare department social services staff under Title XX of the Social Security Act for the 1981-82 fiscal year. Projects funded under Title XX are one of the major components of the California Department of Social Services' (DSS) plan for establishing and coordinating a comprehensive array of training mechanisms for meeting the training and staff development needs of social services personnel in the State's Title XX programs. The training projects complement the training activities of the State and county departments in providing a comprehensive training network. Each educational institution proposal shall be based on county needs and requirements as identified through consultation with the county. Initial contact should be made with each county in the proposed client group to explore the potential for development of a training program. Statewide priority for programs developed and provided through the University Title XX Training projects shall be given to skills and knowledge required to implement PL 96-272. DSS Family and Children Program staff have identified several areas of particular concern for 1981-82: crisis intervention; use of resources to prevent placement; family reunification; permanency planning for children; assessment; and case management.
